AIR-INDIA INTERNATIONAL

NOTIFICATION

In exercise of the powers conferred by section 45 of the Air Corporations Act, 1953 (XXVII of 1953), the Air-India International Corporation, with the previous approval of the Central Government, hereby makes the following regulations for the issue of passes to its Officers and other employees either free of cost or at concessional rates for travel on its air services otherwise than on duty and the conditions relating thereto, namely:—

1. Short title and commencement—These regulations may be called the Air-India International Air Passage Concessions to Employees Regulations, 1955, and shall come into force from 1st May 1955.

2. Definition—In these regulations, the word "family", in relation to an employee, includes his wife (one only), legitimate children and step children wholly dependent on him.

3. Eligibility for free passages—A permanent employee who has completed twelve months' service may be allowed during each calendar year one free return pass for himself for travel in the Corporation's aircraft from the place at which he is stationed to any place on any route operated by the Corporation. Provided that this privilege shall not be claimed by any employee of the Corporation as of right, but shall be sanctioned at the discretion and convenience of the Corporation.

4. Concessional passages—(i) Subject to the conditions of eligibility laid down in Regulation 3 and to the provisions of Regulation 11, an employee may be granted not more than three return concessional passes in all in each calendar year on payment of 25 per centum of the scheduled fare for travel within India and 10 per centum of the scheduled fare for international travel, from the place at which he is stationed to any place on any route operated by the Corporation; Provided that for travel on an international sector, the minimum payment will be Rs. 50 for Standard and Rs. 40 for Tourist class, in each direction.

(ii) It will be permissible for an employee to transfer any of the concessional passes granted to him under clause (i) of this Regulation to a member of his family.

5. Restriction on air passages—No such travel shall be allowed otherwise than subject to accommodation being available and before all paying traffic is accommodated.

6. Employees and members of their families to travel at their own risk—An employee or a member of his family travelling in an aircraft of the Corporation under these regulations shall do so entirely at his risk and shall be governed by the terms and conditions subject to which tickets are normally issued by the Corporation, and such terms and conditions shall be binding on the employee as well as on the members of his family, his heirs and legal representatives and on all other persons claiming or purporting to claim under him or them.

7. Failure to obtain a pass to be no excuse for not returning to duty in time—No excuse shall be made by an employee travelling under these regulations for not returning to duty in time on the ground of non-availability of seat in the aircraft, and the responsibility for re-joining duty on the appropriate date shall be solely on the employee.

8. Penalty for unauthorised use of free or concessional passages—Any unauthorised use of the free or concessional pass granted to an employee under these regulations is liable to be construed as a misconduct and may also entail the permanent forfeiture of the claim for free and concessional passes.

9. Baggage allowances on free or concessional tickets—An employee to whom a free pass or a pass at concessional rates under these regulations is issued shall be entitled to the applicable baggage allowance plus an excess baggage allowance not exceeding 30 lbs. in respect of each such pass.

10. Passage facilities non-cumulative—The passage facilities granted under these regulations shall be non-cumulative and the free/concessional passages not utilised by an employee in any calendar year shall lapse at the end of that year.

11. Class of travel—Where any of the aircraft of the Corporation in which an employee travels under these regulations consists of both Standard and Tourist classes of accommodation, the class in which he shall be entitled to travel shall be determined as follows:—

(i) An employee drawing a basic pay of Rs. 1,000 per month and above, will be entitled to travel in either class according as accommodation is available. Provided that he shall be liable to be changed from one class to another at intermediate stations according to necessity.

(ii) An employee drawing a basic pay of less than Rs. 1,000 per month shall be entitled to travel only in the Tourist Class, except when travelling on duty and no tourist seat is available, and his pay exceeds Rs. 200 per month.

(iii) The family of an employee shall be entitled to travel in the same class in which the employee travels under these regulations and to the flight privileges which normally accrue to that class.
